About This Game

Story

Take control of one of the few remaining humans on earth. It's the year 2041; the atmosphere is toxic from global warming and nuclear war. All known survivors live in bunkers underground having to grow their own food and make their own drinks to survive. Luckily, different resources can be traded between bunkers, thanks to the droids that go back and forth gathering and dropping off supplies.

In this game you will need to grow your own crops to eat, you will need to brew some crops for a drink, while trying to get the XP required to leave the bunker you are now trapped in.

Good potential for a game, But is lacking content at the moment (obviously :P) I'll be keeping my eye on this one. Even for less than a dollar, this "game" is just a boring grindfest. Tycoon in name only.. Really fun can not wait for updates.. It's fun but I'd love to see more content.. If you are looking to lose time on a cookie clicker you may as well find it for free on the web but the game is pretty nice, hope the developer adds more stuff. When you have all of the crops and you know how the game works it just feels repetitive, its tedious to farm 10,000 exp points just to finish the game when you already had bought every extra asset.

I didn't really enjoy the game I doesn't really tell you what to do and the graphics are just bad. 4\/10. The game feels unfinished and it doesn't look like it is going to get any more updates.
